

AFRICAN CHILD

African Child African Child

Grows with mother and father with plenty to eat. They provide for her with whatever they can. Not because they are rich but because they care. But alas death sets in and takes the parents away!!!

Oh African Child

She is taken by Uncle John who brings her back after a year complaining of bigheadedness. Auntie Tracy offers to help but then she can no longer feed an extra mouth. Granny arrives on the scene to provide food and drink for her, not to mention love care and affection. But oh, death again robs her of this caring soul.

Oh African Child.

She goes to live with a friend, who teaches her means of survival. She roams the streets looking for what to eat and after years, she brings some young ones into the world. Taken by the fiancé her hopes begin to rise, only to be disappointed when he drops her for another girl.

Oh African Child.

Left with no option, she returns to her previous means of survival, but only to fall sick after some time. It is then discovered that she is suffering from an incurable disease. She tries to fight for her life but fails and she is laid beside her parents, leaving behind the off springs. How they will survive, no one knows.

Oh African Child, oh African Child
